

Abstract of the Disclosure

A method and apparatus creates a reduced-resolution version of an image and uses the reduced resolution version to identify recognition parameters. The recognition
5 parameters are then used on the original version of the image to recognize objects such as characters in the image.

004080- E24E560